Homelessness in Austin/Travis County: 2019 Annual Point in Time Count Results and Plan to End Homelessness

In the early hours of January 26, 2019, more than 500 volunteers counted the number of children, families, and adults experiencing unsheltered homelessness throughout Austin/Travis County. Volunteers counted people in cars, tents, parks, under bridges, and on the streets.

On the same day, people who were sleeping in shelters and transitional housing programs were counted using the Homeless Management Information System (HMIS). The total number of individuals experiencing homelessness that day was 2,255, a five percent increase from the 2018 PIT count.

Persons Counted Experiencing Homelessness in Point-in-Time Counts (PIT)

1,037 unsheltered persons were counted across Austin's City Council Districts axax on January 26, 2019. This represents an increase of 34 people found inside the City limits

The total population counted in the City districts does not equal the total unsheltered count because people are also counted outside of the City limits, but within Travis County jurisdiction.

The PIT Count revealed a significant reduction in youth homelessness

There was a 25 percent reduction in youth homelessness overall and a 56 percent reduction in unsheltered youth homelessness. These findings are particularly encouraging given the collaboration to end youth homelessness that began in 2017. In 2017 Austin was one of 10 cities to be awarded a Youth Homelessness Demonstration Project grant of $5.2 million to fund a community plan and launch critical services. Services began in October 2018 and have provided permanent housing to more than 70 youth so far. "Ending youth homelessness requires a relentless and collaborative focus on providing safe, immediate housing options and access to the kinds of services our most vulnerable youth need," LifeWorks Executive Director, Susan McDowell, said. "The reduction of youth experiencing homelessness in this year's PIT Count validates that together, we are building a system that is working. We have to scale this success now and reach the youth still waiting to be housed."

Austin's system to house homeless veterans continues to work – just three percent of the total homeless population are Veterans, a 15 percent reduction from 2018

Only 37 Veterans were found on the streets in 2019, down from 68 in 2018. The goal is still to house any Veteran within 90 days of identification. The length of time it takes to house a Veteran can vary with the availability of a rental subsidy, but all Veterans identified are offered shelter while they wait for permanent housing.

Total Individuals Experiencing Homelessness Who Successfully Moved into Permanent Housing

Though we saw an increase in unsheltered homelessness in this year's PIT count, the number of individuals who were moved into permanent supportive housing in 2018 increased by 233. This is reflective of a system that is getting more refined each year and helping more people exit homelessness.

Permanent Supportive
Housing (PSH):
Housing intervention that includes on-going rental subsidy and support services.

Rapid Re-Housing (RRH): Short-term housing intervention that includes limited financial and support services. Minimal Housing Assistance (MHA):
Support services designed to assist persons with low housing barriers or persons likely to self-resolve to end their homelessness.
